WEEKLY MEDITATION for the 16th Sunday in Ordinary Time

A time to listen

The question we ask ourselves is about life's priorities. In today's gospel we hear the attitude of two sisters who approach Christ differently. The questions for us are: what is important in life? Who is important? If we spend more time in quiet and reflection, listening to the Lord, we would be calm, and worry less about the daily stresses

But it is also important to receive. None of us are self-sufficient. We must be open to others who can and live our lives deeper and richer. Giving is important. Very important.

make us richer, make our lives more beautiful. The fullness of life cannot take place without a deep and healthy spirituality. Prayer is the time when we lift ourselves up. "Prayer is not the time to question and ask, but rather the yearning of the soul. It is the daily admittance of our weaknesses" (Ghandi). By listening we reach the realm of wisdom.

WISDOM'S CORNER

Wise people speak wisely

I do not think much of a man who is not wiser today than he was yesterday.

(Abraham Lincoln)

Self-centered people hate to receive. Why is this? Because it makes them feel inferior to others and puts them in debt to others. On the other hand, they love to give because it inflates their ego, thereby (unconsciously perhaps) making them feel superior to others.

Giving is important. But so too is receiving. None of us is self-sufficient. All of us are incomplete. We need to receive from one another and above all from god. It's nothing less than tragic not to be able to receive. It's not enough to know how to give, we must also know how to receive. Both are graced activities.

Today's Gospel story speaks to us in the same way.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

"It requires wisdom to understand wisdom: the music is nothing if the audience is deaf."

Dear friends,

I read an interesting story recently:

"An elderly gentleman was hard of hearing for years. He finally decided to see the doctor, and through a series of treatments, the man regains his hearing. A month later he returns to the doctor for a follow-up visit and the doctor tells him: "Your hearing is practically perfect. Your family must be so happy about this".

I didn't even tell them, the gentleman replies. Now I just sit and listen to what they talk about. I've already changed my will three times."

How many times we talk about people behind their backs? Am I one of them? Is my family one of them? If we are not ready to face people, to tell them directly and openly, then we shouldn't talk behind their backs neither.

Do we not remember the wisdom of Jesus of Nazareth, when he said "Do unto others as you would like done unto you..." Or the negative reverse one: Do not do to others what you do not like them do to you!

The way we talk to people or about people is a reflection of our very character. Our characters are our destiny.
