WEEKLY MEDITATION for the 9th Sunday of Ordinary Time

Christ says in today's Gospel: "Everyone who listens to these words of mine and acts on them will be like a wise man who built his house on rock."

Build on the following pillars:

The important thing about you is your capacity for goodness.

Work not only on your career; work on your character.

Form your conscience well with church teachings, and then follow your well-formed conscience with integrity.

Do not be afraid of sacrifice. Without sacrifice and struggle you can never grow up and fulfill your mission in life.

Be faithful to your promises. Fidelity is a beautiful thing.

Do not be ashamed of your beliefs and values. Do not be ashamed of Jesus. Without them you are no better than a ship without a destination.

Some people may think they are perfectly fine while failing tremendously to live by the teachings of Christ and his church. Such people are building on sand. Only a life built on the rock of Jesus will be able to withstand the inevitable temptations of life.

WISDOM'S CORNER

Building on Rock

In comparison with faith, there is nothing sure or lasting in the world. Human opinions are rooted in appearances, and change from day to day, but the words of Christ do not change or pass away. We would do well to build the house of our lives on his precious teaching.

The people who heard the Sermon on the Mount were enormously impressed, but Jesus told them that it was not enough to listen to his words. They would have to act on them if they wished to benefit from them.

Jesus said his disciples would be judged not by their words, but by their deeds. There is only one way in which a person can prove the sincerity of what he preaches, that is, by his practice. Sadly, some who confess Jesus with their lips deny him with their lives.

Jesus said that those who listened to his words, but who did not act on them were building on sand. Those who listened to his words and acted on them were building on rock. They would have something that would last.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

"Fine words can never take the place of deeds."

The King's Speech

Dear Friends,

The biggest annual television extravaganza in America and in the world is now completed: the 2011 Oscars. Cameras, smiles, cynicism, long and unusual gowns, foul language, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences so admired by many, new million dollar contracts, a procession of new "values."

Yet something surprising happened. A movie won Best Picture without violence or sex. Amazing! A film for everyone with a great message! It is an especially good message for all who stammer or stutter. This quality film won four Oscars. So a person has to ask, if one movie won Best Actor, Best Director, Best Original Screenplay and Best Picture, and it is the most popular and most seen movie, then why do we not have more of such quality films?

Unfortunately, most films are not made for viewing by people who have a little dignity. And yet, that's not the problem. Maybe the problem is that in our society there is a lack of intellectual depth. We lack depth in events. And we lack deep movies that might be reflected upon, that might carry a profound message.

How good it is when we see a good film and don't immediately turn off the TV, or depart the theater. How good it is when our eyes simply linger upon the screen as we feel the desire to share that deep message with others.

Unfortunately we have to do a great deal of exploring and digging in order to find such a treasure of intellectual and spiritual depth, a treasure for the school of wisdom of the whole world!

Let us seek after what is valuable, what is lasting!
