WEEKLY MEDITATION for the 29th Sunday in Ordinary Time

We give to God something that we do not give to any earthly ruler. That thing is worship, by all that we say and do. We pray without ceasing in our worship of the Holy Trinity — Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

The question put to Jesus was a test question to see whether he would declare himself on the side of those who opposed paying taxes to the Romans. If he said yes, he could lose the esteem of the subjugated people of Israel, and would be regarded as a traitor to the Jewish cause and the Jewish religion. If he said no, he could be denounced as fomenting rebellion against the Roman Empire. In his answer Jesus recognizes that the State has a role, but its power is limited and does not supplant God.

In his answer Jesus show that often there is no conflict between the demands of the State and those of God. From this principle Christians deduced that they could accommodate loyalty to the State.

Every Christian has dual citizenship. Christians respect the legitimate rights of the State. But Christians are also citizens of the Kingdom of Heaven. As Christians our deepest loyalty is to God and his law.

WISDOM'S CORNER

Allegiance to God comes first

Franz was born in Austria and raised a Catholic. He became very responsible and began to take his religion seriously. By this time the Second World War was raging, he was called up to serve in Hitler's army but refused to join.

It wasn't that he wanted to die a martyr's death. He had a lot to live for. He was arrested and put in prison where efforts were made to get him to change his mind. It was all to no avail. Franz was beheaded. He felt he was obeying the words of Christ: "Give to Caesar what belongs to Caesar, and to God what belongs to God." Indeed, the memorable words of Thomas More could be applied to him: "I die the King's good servant, but God's first."

Every Christian living in the modern world is faced with difficult decisions. There are so many little "Caesars" vying for a piece of our conscience. We must give God the first and highest claim on our loyalty.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

"Lord, you are faithful in all your words and loving in all your deeds."

The Season of Fall

Dear Friends,

These days I spent some time driving in my car, over a few hundred miles. It was a nice drive because of the beautiful wonders of nature.

Autumn is among us. It is October. The leaves are falling. The month itself we call Fall. The colors are the most beautiful of all the seasons. The colors of autumn have an interesting story to tell about life and the passing of time. The trees are, as if at the Olympics, competing as to whose leaves are prettier. We see short trees, tall trees, old trees, and young trees. It doesn't matter. They are all in the same competition. It's interesting that this game of beauty and colors in nature occurs right before life ends, and death occurs. Soon all the trees will be barren. All the leaves will be gone. All the colors will disappear. It will be cold. Winter will bring us ice and snow. Death will occur, which will take away all visible life.

And then in the springtime, that life begins once again, it rises, resurrects! Exists! What a beautiful message nature sends us. Our eyes have the gift to see this beauty, our souls the gift to experience it, our minds the gift to understand it. Can we harmonize these gifts and see the beauty of life which changes, demonstrates, hides, plays, but is always present and never ceases to exist?

Man is a reflection of nature and an image of creation. And within him, changes take place. And God is present within him, always creating, always speaking. Let us pause and reflect on the simplicity of the beauty of life, of God's work which is present in nature and in mankind. He writes, draws, speaks, sings ... and all that we are given to see, let us experience it, enjoy it, learn from, rejoice in it.
