32ND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

This past week we celebrated both the feast of All Saints and the Commemoration of All the Faithful Departed. These two celebrations together remind us of our own destiny, the promise of eternity, and the hope of enjoying the blessed vision of God's presence forever in heaven. During November, as the earth itself seems to be dying all around us, we take time to remember those who have gone before us "marked with the sign of faith." Special Masses or prayers are offered in these days for the faithful departed, and some families have the custom of erecting small memorial shrines in their homes this time of year.

All of these devotions and customs point to our belief in the Resurrection. Our faith proclaims that death is not the final end for us. We live, even if we die, because we have eternal life in Christ. In the Gospel the resurrection-denying Sadducees tried to trip up Jesus with a question about a tenet of the faith that they did not even adhere to. Jesus would not fall into their trap, proclaiming instead that the life of resurrection is different from existence as we know it on this earth. It is similar enough that we can describe it as "life." But what its exact form and nature is, lies beyond our knowledge at this point in our existence.

In these November days we may occasionally find our practice of prayers for the dead challenged or called into question. We believe in a communion that goes beyond the limits of our earthly existence, which we acknowledge every time we profess our belief in the communion of saints. In that communion we are united with our loved ones and with all who believe in Christ.

32. NEDJELJA KROZ GODINU

Ispitivanja javnog mnijenja pokazuju da velik broj kršćana našeg vremena ima poteškoća s vjerom u zagrobni život, štoviše, velik broj njih tvrdi da ne vjeruje u uskrsnuće i život nakon smrti. „U ono što ne mogu vidjeti i dotaknuti, ne mogu vjerovati“, kažu mnogi. Drugi pak smatraju da je vjera u zagrobni život samo jeftina utjeha onima koji u ovom životu ne uspijevaju pa se nadaju nečem boljem u onostranosti.

Na čemu mi kršćani temeljimo svoju nadu u život poslije smrti? Isus u odgovoru saducejima navodi dva argumenta. Kao prvo: Ne možemo donositi zaključke o životu nakon smrti na temelju iskustva iz ovoga, zemaljskog života. Život nakon smrti nije jednostavno nastavak ovoga života, za njega vrijede posve drukčije zakonitosti. Zato Isus odgovara saducejima: Na onom svijetu sve je posve drukčije pa zato vaša priča nema smisla. I za nas, koji bismo rado htjeli znati „kako je to tamo“, vrijedi Isusova poruka: Ne zamarajte se previše time, prepustite to Bogu koji zna kako je to providio i budite sigurni da život poslije smrti postoji!

Drugi argument glasi: Bog je Bog živih, za njega su svi živi. Jer od njega i po njemu dolazi život! I još važnije: Bog je vjerran i preko granica smrti. Za Isusa to nisu bile samo riječi, u toj vjeri i uvjerenju on je živio i djelovao. U toj nadi je i umro. Svoj život položio je u očeve ruke jer mu je posve vjerovao. Na to želi i nas potaknuti: da svoju brigu za budućnost prepustimo Bogu i vjerujemo da će Bog života i ljubavi sve privedi sretnom svršetku. Pritom nije važno znati kako će to biti. Bitno je prepustiti se Božjim rukama i njegovoj dobroti. I još nešto: Ako je život kojemu se nadamo i koji nas čeka nakon smrti posve drukčiji od svih naših predodžaba, ne bi li naš život s ove strane smrti trebao biti drukčiji?
