WEEKLY MEDITATION — SECOND SUNDAY OF EASTER

Faith is the most precious thing in the world, but it is exposed to the harsh winds of doubt which blow through the modern world.

When we are feeling good we are quite happy to let others come near us, but when we are in pain we tend to cut ourselves off from others. No one wants to have a sore spot touched. Today's Gospel tells us that Thomas missed the first appearance of the Risen Lord and therefore doubted the resurrection. The first thing Jesus did was to show him His own wounds. Jesus felt no need to hide His wounds for they were the proof of His love. He invited Thomas to touch those wounds. In truth, Thomas was the wounded one. He was wounded by grief, loneliness, doubt and despair. Even though his wounds were invisible, they were very real. Jesus was able to see them. It was He who touched Thomas' wounds and made him whole and well again. It was by touching and being touched that Thomas was healed of his unbelief as well as of his other wounds.

The world today is full of "doubting Thomases." They will not come to believe unless they can touch Jesus' wounds and see the radiance of His face in His followers.

Through the Sacrament of Baptism, we will receive into our faith community this weekend:

the son of Francis and Maria (nee Kovandova) Penavic, and the Godchild of Tin Penavic.

MICHAEL EVERETT BADROV,

the son of Richard Michael & Melissa Lynn (nee McLees) Burtner, and the Godchild of Anthony & Ginger Pascente.

Congratulations to the families, and may God bless little Lukas, Michael and Richard.

Today's Divine Mercy Sunday — pray a Chaplet!

Here's how to pray the Divine Mercy Chaplet, a devotion beloved by Pope John Paul II: Begin with the Sign of the Cross, an Our Father, a Hail Mary, & the Apostles Creed.

If you use a Rosary, on the Our Father beads pray: "Eternal Father, I offer You the Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity of Your dearly beloved Son, Our Lord Jesus Christ, in atonement for our sins and those of the whole world." And on the Hail Mary beads pray: "For the sake of His sorrowful Passion, have mercy on us and on the whole world." (Repeat this paragraph for all five decades.)

Conclude with (three times): "Holy God, Holy Mighty One, Holy Immortal One, have mercy on us and on the whole world."

WISDOM'S CORNER

The Wounds of Love

There was a man who was very attached to his father, who had been a common laborer all his life. When the father died, the son was grief-stricken. As he stood quietly gazing down into the coffin in which he was laid out, he was particularly struck by his father's hands. Even small things can reveal the essence of a person's life. Later he said:

"I will never forget those magnificently weathered old hands. They told the story of a countryman's life in the eloquent language of wrinkles, veins, old scars and new. My father's hands always bore some fresh scratch or cut as adornment, the result of his latest tangle with a scrap of wire, a rusted pipe, a stubborn root. In death they did not disappoint, even that small and valuable detail. It is not given to sons to know everything about their fathers, but I have those hands in my memory to supply evidence of the obligations he met, the sweat he gave, the honest deeds he performed. By looking at those hands I could read the better part of the old man's heart."
